

Megan Olshavsky, Ph. D.
Director of Operations
Ascension Seton Health Alliance

Megan Olshavsky, Ph.D. oversees business operations for the Ascension Seton Health Alliance, a clinically integrated network of over 3500 providers in the Austin metro area. In this role she works with community providers to improve the quality and continuity of patient care while reducing unnecessary healthcare spend. Ascension Seton Health Alliance operates commercial and federal value-based arrangements and during her tenure the network has also significantly grown the number of lives covered in direct-to-employer agreements.

Prior to her current role, Dr. Olshavsky led analytics teams in multiple settings including hospital quality, public health, social services, and education. She earned her Ph.D. in Behavioral Neuroscience from The University of Texas at Austin.
